

Daily Planet

Customer and Employee Relations Directorate,
Internal Relations and Communications Department

Tuesday, Oct. 22

2002

Marshall's Rudolphi named deputy director at Stennis

Michael U. Rudolphi has been named deputy center director of Stennis Space Center. The appointment is effective in November after the next Space Shuttle launch. Rudolphi currently is manager of the Reusable Solid Rocket Motor Project Office at Marshall. "Michael's selection supports the 'One NASA' initiative, and it will enhance the long standing partnership between Stennis and Marshall," said William F. Readdy, NASA's associate administrator for space flight. "I am pleased Michael Rudolphi will serve at Stennis as one of NASA's key leaders."

Flu shots available Thursday and Oct. 29. For more information, see 'Inside Marshall'

Tickets for the Oct. 31 Huntsville 'State of the City' address available for $25 until Monday. For more information, call 544-0042

Safety Day set for Wednesday

A full day of activities is set for Marshall Safety Day on Wednesday. Activities will include astronaut visits, guest speaker Dr. Joseph Mancusi, safety excellence awards and a safety, health and experimental fair. Mancusi will speak at 9:20 a.m., Bldg. 4200, Morris Auditorium. For updates to the Safety Day agenda, go to "Inside Marshall."

<http://inside.msfc.nasa.gov>